If this material contains data derived as a result of back-testing of data it is provided by UBS in good faith using our standard methodology for information of this kind. That methodology relies on proprietary models, empirical data, assumptions and such other information that we believe to be accurate and reasonable. Specifically, there is no assurance that other banks or brokers would derive the same results for the back-test period. "Back-tested data", "back-tested values" and "back-testing", if those terms are used in this document, refers to simulated performance data created by applying the relevant index's calculation methodology to historical prices of futures contracts that comprise the index. Such simulated performance data (if any) has been produced by the retroactive application of a back-tested methodology, and may reflect a bias towards strategies that have performed well in the past. No future performance of the index can be predicted based on the simulated performance (if any) or the historical returns described herein.
