Interest calculation for overnight reference rates

Different publication times for each currency, as well as the exclusive publication of overnight rates, affect the way overnight rates are applied to your cash accounts.

Different publication times:

The overnight money market rate for the Swiss franc SARON is the only reference rate published on the same day. The reference rates for the euro (€STR), British pound (SONIA), Japanese yen (TONA) and US dollar (SOFR) are not published until the following working day.

| Currency      | Reference rate | Administrator                    | Publication time                         |
|---------------|----------------|----------------------------------|--|
| Swiss Franc   | SARON          | SIX Swiss Exchange               | 6:00 p.m. CET                            |
| Euro          | €STR           | European Central Bank            | 9:00 a.m. CET (next working day)         |
| British Pound | SONIA          | Bank of England                  | 9:00 a.m. local time (next working day)  |
| Japanese Yen  | TONA           | Bank of Japan                    | 10:00 a.m. local time (next working day) |
| US Dollar     | SOFR           | Federal Reserve Bank of New York | 8:00 a.m. local time (next working day)  |

Application of overnight rates

For accounts in Swiss franc, the SARON rate valid for the current day is applied to the account balance, as it is already published the same evening. For currencies in which the overnight rates are not available on the same day, a "look back" period of two working days is applied. This means that the interest rate applied is shifted by two working days. For example, on Monday the interest rate from last Thursday would be used as a basis; on Tuesday the rate from last Friday; on Wednesday the rate from last Monday.
