

White Label Funds – Treasury Management

The customized treasury management solution

Background

The increasing challenges for asset management as well as the persistently low level of interest rate make it difficult for corporate groups to manage their liquidity successfully. By bundling the liquidity of the various companies into an individually created white label treasury fund under Swiss, Luxembourg or Irish law, you can optimize the returns of liquidity simply and readily. You would also benefit from economies of scale, cost transparency, and a reduction of administrative requirements. At the same time, the issued fund units continue to be deemed liquid, where possible, and in accordance with the definition of the fund as a “Treasury Fund”. Furthermore, acting as your partner and general contractor, we offer you the entire range of governance, legal, risk management, investment, and distribution capacities.

Using this investment solution, the companies belonging to the corporate group can subscribe to individual units of the fund in the necessary currency and redeem them when in need of liquidity.

Asset Management

The investment strategy of the white label treasury fund can be defined individually and is geared to client-specific requirements regarding the risk profile, duration, return objectives and the necessary liquidity reserves.

It is also possible to set up various currency classes in the fund, which are hedged against the reference currency (e.g. Swiss franc).

The corporate group and its affiliates can thus invest in the desired currency unit class and receive fund units in return.

Accounting

White label treasury funds offer regular account statements, as well as an annual report. Accounting reports may be produced according to IFRS or Swiss GAAP FER. Cost indicators such as the TER (Total Expense Ratio) are calculated and shown in the accounts.

Case study example – Use of white label treasury funds:

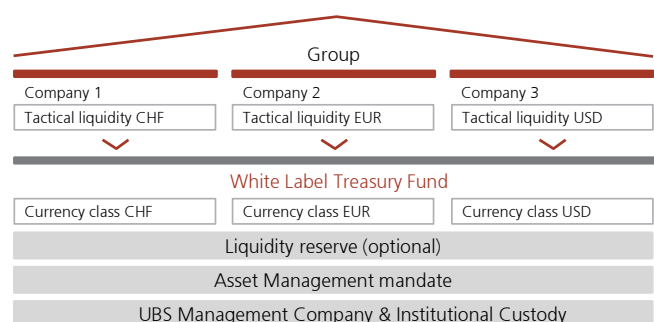

Your challenge

A corporate group consists of various companies. The group has strategic liquidity, while the companies have tactical liquidity. Its treasury management accounts are kept consolidated but kept decentralized invested in its own currency class.

Possible solution

The group centralizes its treasury management by launching a white label treasury fund. The liquidity and any existing investments are transferred to the fund. The group and its affiliates can opt for various currency classes. Thanks to this investment solution, the companies can subscribe individually to units in the fund in the required currency and redeem them when in need of liquidity.
