

(UBS)

VIDEO: Investing in LatAm after the Fed decision

30 September 2024, 6:01 pm CEST, written by UBS Editorial Team

Latin America is home to some of the most exotic locations in the world. We're talking about the economy, as there has been some rising interest since the US Federal Reserve finally began cutting interest rates.

Now that the Fed has finally begun cutting rates and China has ramped up stimulus, the list of external tailwinds faced by Latin America has grown longer. Yet countries in the region seem slow to seize this favorable global backdrop. Risk premia remain elevated across a number of Latin American asset classes, often beyond levels justified by fundamentals, in our view, a situation of which we advise investors to take advantage.

Click here to read our Regional View Emerging Markets: Latin America is failing to capitalize on a once-in-a-generation opportunity, published 30 September, 2024.

Visit the UBS Studios homepage for more videos like this.

Important information

As a firm providing wealth management services to clients, UBS Financial Services, Inc is registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) as an investment adviser and a broker-dealer, offering both investment advisory and brokerage services. Advisory services and brokerage services are separate and distinct, differ in material ways and are governed by different laws and separate contracts. It is important that you carefully read the agreements and disclosures UBS provides to you about the products or services offered. For more information, please visit our website at www.ubs.com/workingwithus.

© UBS 2024. All rights reserved. UBS Financial Services Inc. is a subsidiary of UBS AG. Member FINRA/SIPC.

There are two sources of UBS research. Reports from the first source, UBS CIO Global Wealth Management, are designed for individual investors and are produced by UBS Global Wealth Management (which includes UBS Financial Services Inc. and UBS International Inc.). The second research source is UBS Group Research, whose primary business focus is institutional investors. The two sources operate independently and may therefore have different recommendations. The various research content provided does not take into account the unique investment objectives, financial situation or particular needs of any specific individual investor. If you have any questions, please consult your Financial Advisor. UBS Financial Services Inc. is a subsidiary of UBS AG and an affiliate of UBS International Inc.