- f) Supporting, Enhancing and Maintaining UBS's technology:

This normally involves the hosting of your contact and e-mail information to allow UBS's global IT network to be established and populated with relevant details;

- g) Other purposes:
- to exercise our duties and/or rights vis-à-vis you or third parties;

- to collect data to ensure the security of buildings, the safety of staff and visitors, as well as property and information located, stored on or accessible from the premises, to prevent, and if necessary, investigate unauthorized access to secure premises (e.g., maintaining building access logs and CCTV system images to prevent, detect and investigate a theft of equipment or asset owned by UBS, visitor or staff, or threats to the safety of personnel working at the office).

3.2 Basis for the processing of Personal Information

Depending on the purpose of the processing activity (see section 3.1), the legal basis for the processing of your Personal Information will be one of the following:

- where special provisions exist in laws or it is inevitable to observe legal obligations such as when we process Personal Information necessary for tax reporting or reference requirements (e.g., Financial Information);
- where it is deemed manifestly necessary for the protection of your or a third party's life, bodily or property interests from imminent danger and you or your legal representative is not in a position to express intent, or prior consent cannot be obtained;
- where it is necessary for the legitimate interests of UBS, to the extent that such interests override or do not unduly affect your fundamental rights and the intended processing is reasonable and substantially related to such interests, such as when we process the following Personal Information: Electronic and physical communication information and Information about how employees may use IT systems and hardware;
- where we have obtained your prior consent (for instance where required by law), or separately obtained your explicit consent in the case of sensitive Personal Information (such as your health data).

Examples of the "legitimate interests" referred to above are processing necessary:

- to benefit from cost-effective services, efficient solutions and subject-matter expertise (e.g., we may opt to use certain IT platforms offered by suppliers, or share basic Personal Information with another UBS entity if you transfer to that entity, for use by that UBS entity in conducting legally required background checks without collecting the information from you again (the UBS entity's use of that data will be notified to you at the time). We may also share Personal Information with another UBS entity so that a team with the appropriate subject-matter expertise can provide advice or support);
- to offer our products and services to our customers (e.g., we may communicate professional contact details of one of our External Staff to a customer or supplier, indicating that this person is the contact person within the UBS organization) ;
- to prevent fraud or criminal activity, misuses of our products, resources or services as well as the security of our premises, information, IT systems, architecture and networks ;
- to provide for a centralized, global approach to the provision of IT services to our staff and enable staff within the UBS group to interact with one another. This normally involves the hosting of your contact and e-mail information to allow UBS's global IT network to be established and populated with relevant details ;
- to monitor, investigate and ensure compliance with internal UBS policies, relevant laws or regulations ;
- to cooperate with a request made in any actual or potential proceedings or the inquiries of a public or judicial authority .

To the extent that we process any sensitive Personal Information relating to you, we will do so because:

- the processing is necessary to carry out our obligations under other statutes; or
- you have given your explicit consent to us to process that information.
