

Own your worth

Take control of your financial well-being

Many women are leaving major financial decisions to their spouses

Role in long-term investment and financial planning decisions

Women in Hong Kong and Singapore are most likely to defer

How women defer financial decisions around the world

Yet women are aware of their longevity

women believe they will outlive their spouses

women cite retirement planning as highly important

Why married women step aside in long-term financial decisions

"We take a divide-and-conquer approach; I focus on other responsibilities."

"I think my spouse knows more about this topic than I do."

"My spouse had more assets than I did when we got married."

"My spouse is the primary breadwinner in the family."

"Truth be told, I feel like it's my spouse's money."

Why women should get more involved in long-term financial planning

Widows and divorcees advise greater financial engagement

85%

wish they had been more involved in long-term financial decisions

Women who shared in long-term financial decisions are better prepared for tomorrow

97%

"I'm more confident about our financial future."

Are you ready to own your worth? Talk to your UBS Client Advisor.

ubs.com/investorwatch-hk

About the survey: From September 2017 to January 2019, UBS surveyed 3,652 women. Of these women, 2,251 were married with at least $1m in investable assets. Others (1,401) were either divorced or widowed. These women had at least $250k in investable assets. UBS also conducted in-depth interviews with 71 female respondents. The entire global sample was split across nine markets: Brazil, Germany, Hong Kong, Mexico, Singapore, Switzerland, Italy, the UK and the US.

© UBS 2019. The key symbol and UBS are among the registered and unregistered trademarks of UBS. All rights reserved.