Credit Market Update

Credit Investments Group, October 10, 2025

Equity and fixed income markets generally posted gains in September. On September 17, the Federal Reserve lowered the Fed Funds Rate by 25 basis points — the first rate cut since late last year. Fixed-rate asset classes outperformed floating-rate instruments, benefiting from the declining rate environment. Continued demand for yield, improving company fundamentals, and a resilient economic backdrop supported market performance, leading to slightly tighter spreads.

Credit market performance overview and review

US leveraged loans were up 0.48% in September, with year-to-date loan returns at 4.69%. Loan spreads (3-year DM) finished the month at 451bps, which was 6bps tighter than at the end of August. High yield bonds were up 0.76% in September, bringing year-to-date returns to 7.06%. High yield bond spreads (OAS) tightened 2bps for the month, ending at 280bps in September.

In the US, September new issuance slowed down, with $11.5bn across 23 deals; as well, there were $33.8bn of refi/reset/re-issues across 79 deals. This brings the US CLO 2025 year-to-date new issuance total to $149.4bn across 309 deals, slightly ahead of the $147.6bn across 314 deals through three quarters in 2024. The refi/reset/re-issue market continued the torrid pace in the third quarter bringing the year-to-date 2025 volume to $246.0bn across 559 deals. This exceeds the 472 refi/reset/re-issues of $200.1bn through 3Q 2024. US CLO fundamentals were mixed for the quarter, with improvements in WARF and Jr OC cushion; however WAS, Caa % and default % deteriorated. Year to date, $460bn or 31% of the loan market has been repriced and saved coupon of 15.5bps. The "tail risk", i.e. percentage of assets in CLOs trading at lower prices, increased slightly for the quarter. Approximately 7.4% of assets in US BSL CLOs are trading below 90. Generic US BSL CLO primary spreads generally tightened across the stack during the quarter. AAA, AA, A, BBB and BB spreads ended ~4bps, ~5bps, ~8bps, ~18bps and ~28bps tighter for the quarter, respectively.

The Western European Leveraged Loan Non-USD Market Size decreased by €8.5bn in the month and increased by €22.5bn year-to-date to €326.1bn. This compares with a €4.3bn decrease seen last September and a €12.8bn increase year-to-date last year.

European CLO new issuance in September was €5.2bn across 12 deals; as well, there were €5.0bn of refi/reset/re-issues across 12 deals. This brings the European CLO new issuance through 3Q 2025 to €44.9bn across 103 deals, significantly outpacing the first three quarters of 2024 when there was €35.6bn of new issue across 84 CLOs. Year-to-date 2025, there were €36.7bn of refi/reset/re-issues across 94 deals, double the volumes from the same period last year when there were €18.7bn refi/reset/re-issues across 52 deals in the European market. Index Definitions

S&P UBS Leveraged Loan Index: The index is designed to mirror the investable universe of the $US-denominated leveraged loan market. New loans are added to the index on their effective date if they qualify according to the following criteria: Loans must be rated "5B" or lower; only fully-funded term loans are included; the tenor must be at least one year; and the Issuers must be domiciled in developed countries (Issuers from developing countries are excluded). Fallen angels are added to the index subject to the new loan criteria. Loans are removed from the index when they are upgraded to investment grade, or when they exit the market (for example, at maturity, refinancing or bankruptcy workout). Note that issuers remain in the index following default. Total return of the index is the sum of three components: principal, interest, and reinvestment return. The cumulative return assumes that coupon payments are reinvested into the index at the beginning of each period. Rating Tiers are defined as follows: Upper Tier: Split BBB and BB; Middle Tier: Split BB, B and Split B; Lower Tier: CCC/Split CCC and Default.
