

Dickson Lim
Head of Philanthropy and Community Impact, Singapore
UBS AG

Dickson is a seasoned and trusted Senior Philanthropy Advisor to prominent philanthropists across Asia, contributing award-winning, high-impact strategies and initiatives to establish their philanthropic legacies. Dickson spent more than 18 years serving in senior positions of, and thereafter advising leading non-profit organisations in the healthcare, education and social service sectors. Critical to their success are systemic solutions designed for strategic and innovative efficacy. Dickson regularly mentors the next generation of family successors and their foundations to invest in sustainable and scalable philanthropic programmes, to maximize impact at local, national and regional levels.

Prior to serving the non-profit sector, Dickson spent 10 years in engineering, developing strategic investments and exclusive distributorships of semiconductor manufacturing equipment across Asia. Dickson is an active volunteer in various charities and religious organisations for over 35 years, serving needs across Asia's developing communities. Trained in professional charitable fundraising for non-profit organisations, Dickson also volunteers regularly to train and mentor charity fundraisers in strategic fundraising.

Dickson holds a Master of Technology Management from Griffith University, and Bachelor (Honours) of Engineering (Mechanical) from National University of Singapore, majoring in Automation and Design. Dickson is also a qualified Trust and Estate Practitioner (TEP) and holds a Diploma in International Trust Management from the Society of Trust and Estate Practitioners (STEP).
