The performance data quoted in this material represents past performance, which is not an indication or a guarantee of future results. Investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Due to market volatility, current performance may be significantly lower or higher than the performance quoted. Returns assume the reinvestment of all dividends and capital gains. For performance current to the most recent month-end, visit www.ubs.com/us-mutualfundperformance. You can lose money investing in the Fund. Performance does not reflect the deduction of a sales load or any program fee. If it had, performance would be lower. A fund's short-term performance is not a strong indicator of its long-term performance.

Asset allocation risk: The risk that the fund may allocate assets to an asset category that underperforms other asset categories.

Equity risk: Stocks and other equity securities, and securities convertible into stocks, generally fluctuate in value more than bonds. Preferred stocks in which the fund may invest are also sensitive to interest rate changes. The rights of preferred stocks on the distribution of a company's assets in the event of a liquidation are generally subordinate to the rights associated with a company's debt securities. The fund could lose all of its investment in a company's stock.

Interest rate risk: An increase in prevailing interest rates typically causes the value of fixed income securities to fall. Changes in interest rates will likely affect the value of longer-duration fixed income securities more than shorter-duration securities and higher quality securities more than lower quality securities. When interest rates are falling, some fixed income securities provide that the issuer may repay them earlier than the maturity date, and if this occurs the fund may have to reinvest these repayments at lower interest rates. The fund may face a heightened level of interest rate risk due to certain changes in general economic conditions, inflation and monetary policy, such as certain types of interest rate changes by the Federal Reserve.

Special considerations:

Investors in the Fund should be able to withstand short-term fluctuations in the equity and fixed income markets in return for potentially higher returns over the long term. The value of the Fund's portfolio changes every day and may be affected by changes in interest rates, general market conditions and other political social and economic developments, as well as specific matters relating to the issuers and companies in whose securities the Fund invests. Shares of the Fund are not deposits or obligations of any bank or government agency and are not guaranteed by the FDIC or any other agency.
